

Pearl of Leadership Pin

The Pearl of Leadership Pin recognizes troop leaders with 13 years of service.

History

History says that Juliette Gordon Low had a strand of rare pearls that she sold to help the Girl Scout movement when it was first getting started. She was quoted as saying "Jewels are not important, but my Girl Scouts are- they need the money more than I need pearls." Juliette gave so much of herself to others that Girl Scouts has continued to grow from the first 18 Girl Scouts in Savannah in 1912 to our current membership of 2.6 million girls and adults.

Just like Juliette, you have prioritized Girl Scouts and given the time and energy to help your girls grow and excel. We want to celebrate you and your commitment to Girl Scouts with Juliette's Pearl Pin. Given in the 13th year of service, this pin is a symbol of your commitment to building girls of courage, confidence and character.
